It has been recommended by the Director of Education, the Superintendent of Education – Program, Administrator of Alternative Programs and Community Partnerships, the Student Success Lead, the Consultant-Technological Education/SHSM/OYAP, staff and students at the Centre and supported by the Seaway Mall Management/Doral Holdings that the former Target Store, Seaway Mall in Welland be named NIAGARA LAUNCH CENTRE – Powered by Niagara Catholic District School Board.

We are requesting our new advanced education and innovation centre located in the former Target Store, Seaway Mall be named NIAGARA LAUNCH CENTRE – Powered by Niagara Catholic District School Board. Students coming through the Niagara Launch Centre will be engaged in the development of 21st century skills and competencies. Connecting students with the stimulating possibilities presented through technological education, robotics and related activities will lead to opportunities for the development of interactive, collaborative, entrepreneurial and problem-solving skills. Incorporating these activities with curriculum will support student instruction and enhance student learning, which ultimately will launch them into a promising and lucrative career.

The Niagara Launch Centre is where ideas are generated, creativity is nourished and the entrepreneurial spirit is established.

Why NIAGARA LAUNCH CENTRE – Powered by Niagara Catholic District School Board?

- Logo (see attached Appendix –A-)
 - ✓ Font – simple, clean, sleek – blocked text signifies power, solid, “the authority” or “leader”, the “expert”
 - ✓ Board Logo – only colour image to stand out and signify the source of light, power...this is all driven by NCDSB
 - ✓ Image – signifies strength but mobility, gives a sense of departure and momentum, grounded but able to transform and move forward, element of springing, igniting, launching to the right (forward), thus landing in an unknown yet deliberate location (aim/target/goal), image of explosion/sparks (passion)
 - ✓ Colour – metallic/grey/steel; industrial; technology; strong materials; unbreakable; shiny = new; clean; steel = universal language/colour/strength
- Name - To launch there needs to be an ignition - reading the logo from left to right, there is a sense of an explosive action that sends the streams forward.
 - ✓ NIAGARA text is widely spaced-feeling of encompassing greater area, stretching to include all areas of our region
 - ✓ LAUNCH CENTRE - simple, clean, sleek – blocked text signifies power, solid, “the authority” or “leader”, the “expert”
 - ✓ Powered by Niagara Catholic District School Board – smaller text, as it is the constant driving force, the root, the ground-zero, the reason and ability that all that the “Launch Centre” is derived from this foundational source.

Happening in Secondary Schools

- Lots of exciting things are happening in Special Education classes throughout the month of March.
- The Special Education Classes thoroughly enjoyed a very special Valentine's Day at the Saint Michael's Semi-formal. The students were treated like royalty with the beautiful table settings, student photographers, a delicious meal, and a fabulous dance. Our next Special Education Class event – Beach volleyball, will be held at Holy Cross.
- Many TAY meetings have been scheduled for Spring. These are transition meetings for students who have a developmental disability and are connected to outside agencies.
- Students will be invited to remediation sessions to provide support and extra practice for the writing of the OSSLT on March 30.
- IEP's are under review and teachers are encouraged to provide feedback and input for student success.
- Renewed math strategies continue to be a focus as workshops provide various on-line resources and classroom activities to reinforce math concepts.
- Several of our Special Education Classes, including Notre Dame, Denis Morris, Saint Michael, Saint Francis and Saint Paul plan to participate in the Special Olympics School Championships for Bocce at the end of the month.

Blessed Trinity

- After a successful Pathways Evening, we are setting up many visits with students and parents from our co-terminus Board. We look forward to providing a good transition experience for all incoming Grade 9 students.
- We are assisting the Grade 12 students who will be attending post-secondary institutions next year. They will be aware of how to access the accommodations they require and advocate for themselves as they transition to college or university.
- The Special Education department is excited to continue to be part of the Applied Behaviour Analysis initiative within the school. Two more teachers are now participating as part of a focus on Grade 9 Applied Math classes. In consultation with Board staff and classroom teachers, we will choose our students, develop profiles and track the results in order to share our successes.

Saint Francis

- Special Education Class students continue to run our Breakfast Program each day for all Saint Francis students and continue to bake the muffins daily for our P3 program.

- One of the students in our Special Education Classroom will leave on March 6 to travel to Windsor to participate in OFSAA swimming. She will participate in two events – 50 metre freestyle and 50 metre backstroke. We are very proud of her!
- This semester, students in our Special Education Class are participating in the APC Horticulture program, the APC Hospitality program and one of our students has a Co-operative Education placement at Royal Henley Retirement Community.

Holy Cross

- Holy Cross received some very exciting news recently. Through the hard work and kind efforts of our photography teacher, we were awarded one of sixteen nation-wide grants through Best Buy's School Tech Grant Program. This teacher has had the pleasure of teaching various students from our Special Education Class and believes that photography is a beautiful outlet for the students to express themselves and tell their very important stories from their unique perspectives. She requested a grant to purchase point and shoot digital cameras for the students to use in both the photography studio and the Special Education Class. Holy Cross will receive $3000.00 to purchase the necessary equipment to make our mission happen. We are so grateful to Best Buy for providing these opportunities for schools throughout the country and to this teacher for making this happen for us at Holy Cross!

Saint Paul

- We have 3 students who have recently started co-op placements (Bulk Barn, Project Share, and Humane Society). The employers are quite pleased with our students' performances to date! We have several students excelling in culinary class, one of whom participated in the Board wide culinary competition at Niagara College last week; results of the competition are to be announced later this week.
- Students participated in various Special Olympic sport qualifiers. After attending the basketball qualifier tournament in November, we have been informed that we have qualified for the provincial championships in June! Last month, our students did very well at the soccer qualifiers; we now wait the decision whether or not we move on to Provincials.

Saint Michael

- Saint Michael is completing intake meetings for students entering our Special Education class. We will also be having some transition visits for these students in the spring to ensure a smooth transition for September.

Denis Morris

- The school is hosting a fundraiser for "Toonies for Torches" in May in support of The Special Olympics Games in June.
- Best Buddies Easter event is being planned for the beginning of April.
- Two trial music therapy sessions booked with the Special Education class that uses music and non-music based interventions and techniques to help students reach their highest potential.

Notre Dame

- Notre Dame continues to take a proactive approach to TAY planning. We have ongoing contact with Welland/Pelham Community Living to make sure our parents and students are connected and aware of programs available. On February 21, 22, the "Good Life" workshop was held in Niagara Falls. Students and their parents had the opportunity through the Students Links Initiative to develop a vision for the future.

- In addition, WE ACT, will be coming into our Peer Helping Classes to provide information and proctor discussions about connecting relationships that will encourage inclusive communities, citizenship and friendships.
- On May 25, 2017, our Special Education Class along with their Peer Helpers will be participating at the St. Kateri Tekakwitha Centre. Our class is looking forward to spending the day outdoors learning and experiencing nature and the environment.

Lakeshore Catholic

- Brock University held a Maker Challenge where construction and technology classes were asked to build something that would benefit students with any type of exceptionality or disability.

Lakeshore Catholic Construction classes, under the direction of a Lakeshore Catholic teacher, created an accessible cafeteria table that was modified so that wheelchair bound students could access the table simply by rolling up their chair. The design team modified standard cafeteria tables so that wheelchair bound students no longer have to be seated at the end of the cafeteria table (away from other students). This design incorporates both inclusion and acceptability. LCHS earned 1st place for their design and received a cheque for $2000 to go to their technology program. Afterwards, Maker Challenge organizers spoke to the Lakeshore Catholic teacher about the design. Preliminary discussions are in the works to see if the design can be patented or re-created for other schools.

Wheelchair bound students at Lakeshore Catholic love the table and are able to socialize, interact, eat and play cards with their friends in comfort and appropriate proximity.

With the completion of our expansion in 2011, our two-storey school has grown to 22 classrooms with a fully equipped library. We are also happy to have created a Grade 1 French Immersion classroom and program for the 2013-2014 school year. We are also excited about the building of the new St. Helen Church in the front of the school and look forward to enhancing the St. Mark Triad between church, school and home.

Monsignor Clancy and St. Charles Catholic Elementary Schools
Modified Pupil Accommodation Review
Combined Catholic School Council Meeting

March 28, 2017
6:00 p.m.

MONSIGNOR CLANCY CATHOLIC ELEMENTARY SCHOOL THEATRE

Minutes of the Monsignor Clancy and St. Charles Catholic Elementary Schools Modified Pupil Accommodation Review of March 28, 2017 at 6:00 p.m. at Monsignor Clancy Catholic Elementary School.

St. Charles Catholic Elementary School Principal Walsh opened with a prayer.

Monsignor Clancy Catholic Elementary School Principal Trainor welcomed everyone and introduced Board staff present.

Presentation:

Superintendent Farrell welcomed and thanked everyone for attending and outlined the upcoming presentation which would cover the modified pupil accommodation review process and the opportunities for parents to be involved. He advised that the slide deck will be posted to the Board website and that the upcoming Public Meeting on April 20th, at Monsignor Clancy, will be more detailed.

Superintendent Farrell indicated that Niagara Catholic, like all school boards in the province, are dealing with declining enrolment. In Niagara Catholic, 94% of our vacant space is at the elementary level and approximately 30% of that vacant space is here in Thorold.

The Niagara Catholic Long Term Accommodation Plan is available on the Board website which outlines potential accommodation strategies for the next five years. This Pupil Accommodation Review was identified to be addressed and recommended for the first year. Potential community partnerships were investigated, through a public meeting, and the local municipality was consulted in early January.

Each of the slides was reviewed and guests were provided the opportunity to ask questions.

The Initial Staff Report, prepared by Board staff is available in its entirety on the Board website for review and provides an open and transparent view into the rationale for selecting the recommended option. Superintendent Farrell outlined how the current accommodation review process was different than conducted in earlier years. The purpose of the modified accommodation review process is to seek input on the recommended option.

The four accommodation options considered were listed. The recommended option, to consolidate the schools at a renovated Monsignor Clancy, was reviewed and the double-gym, theatre, cafeteria and Chapel were highlighted as important considerations.

There will be a Public Meeting at Monsignor Clancy on April 20th, 2017 for the community to provide input on the recommended option.

Kathy Levinski, Administrator of Facilities Services, outlined the open and transparent process and showed where all information, including the Board Policy, Initial Staff Report and meeting dates, can be found on niagaracatholic.ca, the Board website. Parents will also receive information through the SchoolConnects system, through phone and email.

The feedback page for comments and questions, from the website, was shown. All inquiries will receive a response. All feedback is provided to the Board of Trustees.

Superintendent Farrell reviewed the timelines, in compliance with Board Policy, for the Modified Pupil Accommodation Review, including the April 20th, 2017 Public Meeting and a dedicated Board Meeting at Monsignor Clancy Catholic Elementary School to receive public delegations on May 29th, 2017. Minutes from the meetings will be presented to the Trustees and posted on the Board website. Feedback and correspondence will also be provided to the Trustees and incorporated in subsequent reports prepared by Board staff for Trustee consideration at the Committee of the Whole. If approved, Board staff will make a final recommendation to the Board of Trustees to be voted on at a formal Board Meeting, June 20th, 2017.

The final decision rests with the Trustees. The community would be advised of the decision by June 27th, 2017.

Scott Whitwell, Controller of Facilities Services, advised that a capital application would be submitted to the Ministry of Education at the earliest opportunity, if the approved recommendation involved renovation or construction.

Upon Ministry approval, pre-construction would take approximately 12 months which includes the selection of an architect, facility design, tendering and co-ordinating with the municipality for approval of site plan and obtaining building permits. Sources of funding were reviewed. If the recommendation is approved by the Board, it is contingent on a successful business case approved by the Ministry. Renovations could take up to 16 months. A combined school could open September 2020 or earlier.

Questions/Comments from Attendees:

What renovations would you need to do given, the school is already here and you have the surplus rooms? We need ELKP and Grade 1 classrooms here, what are you going to do - put up portables or are you going to build?

Scott Whitwell: With additions, portables are not usually added for construction. St. Charles goes from Kindergarten to Grade 3 and will require purpose built classrooms, which tend to be bigger than regular classrooms. The parking lot may need to be modified with the additional staff. The tennis courts will be addressed through the process.

Because the JK's are younger, how are you going to separate them on the playground to keep them away from the older grades? My son got bullied by a Grade 3. Keep in mind this was a high school, during the construction time frame. Where are kids going to go to school while renovations are going on?

Superintendent Farrell: The Facilities Services Department, has successfully orchestrated a number of renovations and new construction projects. Student safety is paramount throughout the entire process. It is premature to address how students will be affected by construction as the accommodation solution needs to be resolved first.

These are questions parents are wondering right now. How are our kids going to be safe? Are we going to lose Ms. Wash our wonderful Principal, or are we getting two Principals? What about the teachers at St. Charles, are you going to move them somewhere else or are you going to bring everyone from over there here too? How does that work? Who are the partners? Who are the architects?

Superintendent Farrell: We will be able to answer those questions if it is decided that the schools are to be combined and we receive funding. The selection of an architect is done at the conclusion of this process. What I can assure you is that we want the best quality education for every child.

Well, I just want this on record, the best quality education right now is at St. Charles because of Mrs. Walsh - she knows every student coming into that building. She stands there every morning, knows every parent and I would like for her to be principal of Monsignor Clancy.

Superintendent Farrell: We have 49 elementary schools and parent and student affection for their school and Principal is natural. We believe that all of the communities should feel the same way about their school.

I read that there are other schools underperforming as well, so it's not just St. Charles and Monsignor. What about opening up boundaries? A lot of moms I've talked to, we can't afford Thorold anymore. Look at the demographics. The majority of the people that live here are elderly or Brock students so you are going to lose children coming to school anyways.

Superintendent Farrell: Declining enrolment is an issue throughout the province. In our Long Term Accommodation Plan we provide strategies to address this locally. Earlier this year, we adjusted the boundaries for Loretto Catholic in Niagara Falls and this area was also identified as a priority to address.

As a child who went through construction and lost my high school, I was here, I went through all that construction; the tar smell, headaches, sick days. I have two girls, one in each school, and I worry about their safety. I know you try; but I've been through it and it's hard. The children are still little, but they will be affected here. They are losing their identity. How are the St. Charles kids going to keep their identity? They are Penguins. How is it that those St. Charles kids are going to have their identity kept? Mr. Trainor and Mrs. Walsh have done a phenomenal job joining these two schools as one unit; in the community they are seen as one unit. I know this man (Mr. Trainor). I know what this man does to keep the bullying to a minimum. When you have little kids here and there is a Grade 8 with a Grade 4, what are they going to do to the little ones? That is something concerning as well as making sure the kids are safer during construction. You're going 16 months. That's over one full school year of construction they have to suffer through. Things like their playground, is it going to be brought over because we lost the one that we built? St. Charles had one for the little JK and SK's and it's gone. As parents, we spent money for it. Those are my main concerns to be addressed. Their identity, their safety, full and complete safety. You can't stop paint smell, you can't stop tar smell, you can't stop re-routing. The months of construction, for Mr. Rapattoni, I can't even use the word. Those are the things that are my concerns.

Superintendent Farrell: We appreciate your concerns and understand the amount of work on that will be required by both Principals to bring both school communities together. A transition plan will be developed if the decision is made to combine the schools. The intent is not to erase the history of either school. The intent is to honour that history, but, move forward.

But there is a dilemma right there. As a Monsignor Clancy High School student, where is my identity? Mr. Trainor knows. We just did our reunion and one of the things we don't have is a wall, our Grad pictures put back up. We don't have a home. Our home was taken from us as a high school because it was changed back to elementary. Mr. Trainor has been working to get our home put back into Clancy. We want a name, we want a place, we want to tell our kids we went here. You walk into DM and you go back generations. We don't even have a home so as you say the Penguins are gonna keep their face, I don't believe that. As a Crusader, I went here from Grade 6 to OAC, I don't have an identity. And that was partially the Board and partially the Church that took it away.

Another thing I want to point out is that you say that this could happen. If you know this is going to happen you should have everything prepared now. If you have a transition plan, where is it? Give it to us right now, because parents want to see it. You people have it in your mind that it is probably going to happen so. You guys are very political. If you want us to vote on it, we need information in our hands, not online - we want paper.

Superintendent Farrell: We can make the report available at the school or you are able to print it off. The transition plan is premature.

You should have a transition report now. If you think this is going to happen, you need to have your ducks in a row. You should have a transition plan for us now. Get that stuff to parents early so we are not sitting here wondering. Parents weren't heard when they turned this from a high school and made it back to elementary.

Superintendent Farrell: As far as what happens next, we have a Public Meeting here on April 20th. We will be presenting the options considered and the rationale for our recommended option. We will not be presenting a transition plan at that time. At this stage in the process, we need to hear from the community and what the concerns are. If the recommended option is ultimately approved there will continue to be time to communicate. We are not talking about beginning construction for September. These things take years.

You said 2020 is the date that the two schools will be amalgamated, that is three years away and construction will take 16 months.

Superintendent Farrell: One of the things we need to do, if this is approved by the Trustees, is to apply to the Ministry of Education for funding. If there is no funding then we go status quo.

There is an election next year, what happens if you go through all this and don't get funding?

Scott Whitwell: We would prepare a business case. Each Board can submit up to 8 business cases to the Ministry of Education. There are boards that put in a business case and get turned down the first time. That doesn't prevent them from applying again.

But wouldn't that put construction back due to the election.

Scott Whitwell: I believe that once the Ministry of Education gives the funding it generally stays in place. That has been the history.

So this whole recommendation is based on getting funding from the Ministry?

Yes, we require funding. If we don't get it we will need to consider next steps. We have looked at our empty spaces and it may not seem like it would have a large impact on the board, but, resources allocated to empty spaces mean less resources for all students in the Board. It doesn't just affect one or two schools. It means less resources for your children.

Look at Thorold South, all that land just went up for construction.

Superintendent Farrell: We will get into that more on the April 20 meeting. Tonight, we wanted to let you know how you can be involved and where you can find information. Our website has all of the information. You leave a question or comment using the site. You can use regular mail if you are not comfortable with electronic or you can call Kathy Levinski. Everything gets documented and is provided to the Trustees. We can't be more open with our rationale or what we are thinking than we are in our Initial Staff Report.

Comment: I think it worth noting as well that we are the only schools that are separated by Primary and Junior/Intermediate. We are the last remaining to be K-8 and the benefits to having the K-8 are important.

Comment: I think what this lady over here was saying about the safety of our students is probably the most important thing. I remember when my son was in Grade 1 at St. Charles and the ELKP was being constructed. Part of his Grade 1 year was spent in the gym. So things like that might happen again here. I just want to make sure that the students are still having their best year even though all of these other things are going on around them.

Superintendent Farrell: We recognize and appreciate your concern for your children. They are our children as well. We also have future children coming and we want to plan for them. We have a long term vision for Catholic education in Thorold. If the recommended option is approved, communication will continue. You will be part of the conversation. Safety of the students is paramount.

Comment: As a parent of two kids, one in each school, I think it will be wonderful to have both in one. I have two different bus schedules, two calendars, they will never be in school together. My little one is so excited when her sister is at the school helping. I think it will be great to have one school.

Comment: I understand safety will be an issue. We are not separating the Grades 4 to 8 anymore because of the guidance of the principal here. I remember the fear I had sending my son from St. Charles to Monsignor Clancy. I heard all kinds of bad stuff but once he got here he was fine. It is a wonderful school. You have your first born who has never seen how older kids act, now you have older kids that need to keep themselves in check for the younger kids. They learn from each other. It think it's a great opportunity to put them together to get a well rounded education. I believe you will do the best to keep our kids safe. It may be bumpy, but, I know Mr. Trainor and only had brief moments with Mrs. Walsh and I know they will be out there working with the parents.

Superintendent Farrell: Thank you to the Catholic School Councils for hosting us and for the questions and feedback. All are invited to the April 20th, 2017 Public Meeting.

FINANCIAL REPORT

MARCH 2016-2017

Niagara Catholic District School Board has benefited from the 2016-2017 Government of Ontario's strategic framework and action plan to create new community hubs. In March, the Ministry of Education approved funding for two projects at Niagara Catholic. The renovation costs to convert empty classroom space to administrative office space at Saint Vincent De Paul Elementary School for the Niagara Student Transportation Services (NSTS). Secondly, the Ministry of Education has approved our portion of capital investment for Saint Paul Catholic High School for a new athletic artificial turf field. This project and partnership includes the City of Niagara Falls, Niagara Catholic Foundation and the Niagara Falls Soccer Club. The athletic turf field will be in use for the start of the 2017-2018 calendar school year.

The first phase of the Provincial Employee Life and Health Trust solution for OECTA staff will commence on June 1, 2017. This first phase will remove approximately 1,300 staff from our current provider to the provincial benefit trust.

The March interim financial statements reflect a balanced position for Niagara Catholic for the 2016-2017 year. Our March 31, 2017 current enrolment data will be finalized in the coming weeks to calculate our actual 2016-2017 average daily enrolment (ADE) numbers.

To achieve our commitment for a balanced budget for 2016-2017, Senior Administrative Council continues to monitor costs associated with the following:

- Fringe benefit costs associated with health benefit costs for both permanent employees and those on long-term disability.
- Replacement costs for all staff associated with sick time.

Mr. John Crocco

Niagara Catholic District School Board

Welland, ON L3C 7C1

Dear Mr. Crocco,

On Saturday, September 17, 2016, ProAction Cops & Kids (ProAction) and Victim Services Niagara (VSN) hosted Niagara Region's Inaugural Chief's Gala in honour of Chief Jeff McGuire and the Niagara police officers who keep our kids and communities safe. This event proved to be a huge success welcoming 300 guests from across the Region to the Crowne Plaza's Grand Ballroom. Community leaders including Hamilton's newly appointed Chief of Police Eric Girt, Senior police officers, business leaders, local politicians, educators, community agencies and invested community members showed their support by attending this event and learning more about the valuable partnerships between Niagara Regional Police Service (NRPS), ProAction and VSN.

Gala guests enjoyed an evening of fine dining, wine tasting and entertainment from talented musicians. Messages shared by Chief McGuire, ProAction and VSN reinforced the value and impact of a community that works together towards common goals. Through our collaborative efforts NRPS, ProAction and VSN are able to impact and better the lives of children and families across the region by providing valuable youth programs that build stronger relationships between cops, kids and their communities and services that provide valuable support and resources to families in times of crime and tragedy.

The evening was a great success raising close to $100,000 to support police-led programs for at-risk youth and vulnerable victims. Thank you for your contribution and for helping to build a stronger, healthier and safer Niagara Region. Building on our success, we hope you will consider joining us again for our next event. Further details will be circulated soon or you can contact Jessica Field, Special Events Coordinator at 416-222-7011 or Jessica@copsandkids.ca.

ONTARIO LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

 enterprisecanada.com/ontario-legislative-highlights-april-7/

April 7, 2017

Note: April 14 is Good Friday, so Ontario Legislative Highlights will be posted on Thursday next week.

WEEKLY ROUNDUP

HAPPY NEW YEAR – As of last Saturday Ontario is in fiscal 2017-18, but the budget for the year remains a work in progress. Finance Minister Charles Sousa won't be tabling the pecuniary blueprint next week, and the House isn't sitting the week after that. Given that budgets are usually released on Thursdays, it looks like April 27th is the most likely date for Budget 2017.

SOAK UP THE SUNSHINE – Fiscal 2016-17 ended with the usual bang, thanks to the now-traditional March 31st release of the "Sunshine List" of public sector salaries, and the now-traditional frenzy of resentment that accompanies it. Like clockwork, the catalogue of $100K+ earners generated a wave of province-wide media coverage (followed by local dissection and umbrage), with most stories noting that there are now 123,410 names on the list, an increase of about 9% from last year. That jump figures to be even more dramatic next year, as a long-time wage freeze is lifted, which could be problematic for the Liberals just months before an election. In the meantime, the Opposition parties are trying to make it a problem for the Liberals right now. To that end, the Tories introduced a motion in the House that would have compelled Treasury Board President Liz Sandals to appear before a legislative committee to justify the high-end payroll. With a majority Liberal government such a motion was a non-starter, and Sandals did her best to turn the tables. "The PCs threatened to fire 100,000 people last election," Sandals chided, bringing up a 2014 campaign promise that still stings many Tories. "It seems that Patrick Brown and the PCs are once again attacking Ontario's hard-working public servants."

BROWN OUT – Someday the Liberals will just as zealously attack Brown's electricity plan, but that day will apparently have to wait awhile. After vowing to "very soon" release his strategy for addressing soaring consumer costs, Brown has reportedly decided to save it for after a party policy conference in November. He had been under pressure to ante up after the NDP and Liberals unveiled their respective hydro proposals last month, but evidently he doesn't see the value in a me-too move and has reverted to his original schedule. He will no doubt be slagged for it – any time he raises hydro in Question Period, he will inevitably face a "where's your plan?" retort – but would rather stick to his pledge to base his platform on grassroots input. Release of his plan, he pronounced, "will not be on the NDP's timeline or the Liberal timeline; it'll be based on collecting good ideas, good evidence, analyzing some of the real structural challenges."

TED TALK – After a couple of weeks of the Liberals seizing on ill-advised utterances by PC MPPs, the Tories got a measure of revenge this week when they pilloried Liberal Ted McMeekin for an anti-doctor comment. McMeekin, who is Premier Kathleen Wynne's Parliamentary Assistant, was engaged in debate on the Patient Protection Act. When PC MPP John Yakabuski wondered aloud why the province needs access to physicians' private medical records, McMeekin heckled, "Because some doctors cheat." Which might have been a clever barb had it not been irrelevant to the subject at hand. A sheepish McMeekin later admitted, "Uncharacteristically, I misunderstood the topic of the debate in the House. My comment was in reference to issues around the OHIP billing system, and not the medical records of any doctor. I apologize to anyone who understandably may have been offended by my remarks." He pointed out that his wife is a doctor (presumably one who doesn't cheat OHIP), but the contrition didn't deter Brown – who has notably sided with physicians in their ongoing contract dispute with the government – from making hay about it. "How can you re-build the relationship when you go around attacking them?" Brown fumed, calling on Wynne to step in and curb what he decried as "a multi-year campaign by this government to attack the province's doctors."

SINGH PRAISES – Still no date for a by-election to fill the vacancy in Sault Ste. Marie, and chances are there will be a second open seat shortly if reports are true that NDP MPP Jagmeet Singh is on the verge of running for the federal party leadership. These rumours have been around for months, and Singh continues to insist he has not yet made a decision. But a National Post story this week suggested it's only a matter of time, quoting sources close to Singh as confirming that a campaign team has been organized and that he "has quietly begun informing others in the political sphere that he plans to run." As Deputy Leader of the Ontario NDP, losing Singh would be a major blow to Leader Andrea Horwath, but insiders say she's had plenty of time to get used to the idea, and the party will do everything it can to hang on to the Bramalea-Gore-Malton seat.

SPORT OF KING – A little to the east, another 905 riding is the subject of some nomination intrigue. In King-Vaughan, a PC youth movement has continued with the selection of Stephen Lecce. He's not a teenager like Sam Oosterhoff, but is still relatively young despite having amassed an impressive résumé as a federal political staffer, spending a couple of years as media relations director for Prime Minister Stephen Harper. He also ran former MP Julian Fantino's federal campaigns, so he has some formidable machinery to tap into. (This could have created an epic battle if the incumbent MPP, Transportation Minister Steven Del Duca, was running against him – pitting Fantino's machine against the Liberal machine built by Greg Sorbara and now behind Del Duca. Alas, the latter plans to run next door in Vaughan-Woodbridge as his current riding gets split by redistribution.) Not every Tory was thrilled with Lecce's nomination, however. A would-be challenger, Konstantin Toubis, claimed the party blocked his application for no good reason. Toubis showed up at the nomination meeting and loudly jeered – to the point police were called in – and posted a diatribe on Facebook: "Congratulations Ontario and welcome to the new world of North Korea! Congratulations party executives and Patrick Brown for your disrespect to your own members and welcome to the new world of dictatorship! Good job!" Hmm, wonder why the party didn't want him as their candidate.

IN THE HOUSE

- No government bills were introduced or passed this week.

FOR THE RECORD

| "You want the first thing that comes to my mind: The polls. Just sayin'."

- Premier Kathleen Wynne, with a self-deprecating chuckle about her low popularity, when asked, at a meeting with the Long Term Care Association, what's the one thing she'd like to change about her job.

| “[Places to Grow] imposes a Bloor and Yonge footprint on the rest of the GTA.”

- Former PC Leader Tim Hudak, keeping his hand in provincial politics in his new job as head of the Ontario Real Estate Association as he criticizes the Liberals’ land-use policies – with a phrase that some would argue applies to any number of issues.

| “To see players competing for their country, sacrificing their bodies night after night for nothing but the honour of representing Canada is a lesson that simply can’t be replaced. This is the moment when NHLers go from professional athletes to role models for our youth.”

- PC Leader Patrick Brown, a huge sports fan, using a Sun Media guest column to voice his disdain about the National Hockey League’s decision not to participate in the 2018 Winter Olympics in South Korea.

ONTARIO LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

April 13, 2017

WEEKLY ROUNDUP

PATH TIME – At some point in the next few weeks, Finance Minister Charles Sousa will be in the spotlight delivering the 2017-18 provincial Budget. Today he has something of a dress rehearsal with a major speech to the Empire Club of Canada. Sousa is expected to announce a date for the Budget (April 27 is seen as most probable) and to offer at least a preview of some of its content. Aside from serving as a Budget scene-setter, however, the speech is primarily a chance to test-drive Liberal re-election messaging. Indeed, Sousa’s topic is billed as “The Path to Balance,” so presumably much of the address will actually be backward looking – a “how we got here” recitation of Liberal initiatives to boost the economy and make government more efficient, enabling the deficit to be eliminated. Languishing in the polls as they are, the LIBs desperately need voters to give them credit for whatever economic success Ontario is experiencing, and both the Empire Club event and the Budget it tees up will heavily reinforce that narrative.

BORDER PATROL – Faced with flagging popularity at home, Premier Kathleen Wynne has spent much of her time lately focused beyond Ontario’s borders – again in the hopes that voters here will appreciate the ensuing benefits. It can be a risky strategy – many an Ontario Premier has been pilloried for being consumed by national affairs, while Prime Ministers have often lost support for cozying up to the U.S. But Wynne obviously sees a growing trend toward protectionism (embodied by U.S. President Donald Trump) as a legitimate threat to Ontario’s export-driven economy. So far she seems to be emerging victorious on the non-domestic front, as evidenced by developments in the past week:

- Ontario’s lobbying efforts with New York representatives paid off when “Buy American” provisions in the state budget were abandoned at the last minute. Wynne, who hadn’t been able to connect directly with Governor Andrew Cuomo, admitted that her cabinet had approved reciprocal legislation – in essence declaring a trade war – to be introduced if the protectionist measures had gone through. With some $30 billion in trade at stake – not to mention the potential domino effect of other states followed suit – there was a big “whew” at Queen’s Park when New York kept its economic channels open. “[We] share more than a border ... This partnership is crucial to both of our economies,” Wynne said. “Protectionist policies like ‘Buy American’ put that relationship and those jobs and businesses at serious risk.”
- While she couldn’t get an audience with Cuomo, Wynne has reportedly been well received by his counterparts in nearly a dozen other states, including a meeting this week with Illinois Governor Bruce Rauner. That follows chats with the Governors of nearby Ohio, Michigan, Vermont, Wisconsin and Indiana, as well as such far-flung states as Colorado, Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee. All of this is necessitated by anxiety around the North American Free Trade Agreement, which Trump promised to dismantle during his campaign for the presidency. “It is an uncertain time, there’s no doubt about that,” Wynne explained of her stateside relationship building. “It’s very important that, as Premier, I play very close attention to, and put resources into ... protection of our interests – not protection of our border, but protection of our interests.”

- On this side of the 49th Parallel, Wynne could also claim victory in completing a new Canadian Free Trade Agreement. Economic Development Minister Brad Duguid was her point person on that, and he gushed that it’s “the most ambitious internal or external free trade agreement that this country has ever had.” While some inter-provincial trade provisions still need to be worked out – booze being one of them – the new deal covers nearly every economic sector, including some that don’t exist yet, like legal marijuana sales. “With technology disruption changing our world, we need trade agreements that apply to not only the sectors that we know of today, but new and evolving sectors,” Duguid emphasized, noting that the new rules will automatically apply to emerging areas of the economy. The CFTA is also touted as making Canada the first country in the world to have a binding process to harmonize trade regulations across sub-national jurisdictions.

HOUSE NOTES – Premier Wynne did focus on some purely domestic business this week, but even that had jurisdictional implications. Wynne gathered a “summit” of Greater Toronto mayors and regional chairs, whose municipalities are technically under provincial control but who wield tremendous influence over their mutual constituents. Like Wynne, municipal representatives are starting to shift into re-election mode – they head to the polls in the fall of 2018, a few months after the June provincial vote – and the last thing she needs is a bunch of local campaigners essentially running “against” her even if they’re at different levels. Hence the summit, to keep them informed of – and ideally on side with – Queen’s Park policies. High on the priority list for the Toronto-area meeting – much more so than in other parts of the province – was runaway housing prices. Wynne and Sousa have repeatedly promised a “comprehensive package” of measures in the impending Budget to not only calm the overheated market but also to address a chronic shortage of social housing. Reinforcing the I-feel-your-pain sentiment central to Wynne’s effort at rehabilitating her image, she intoned, “Reducing the pressure felt by Ontarians, as well as providing more affordable options for people to choose from, is a priority for us and we’re serious about taking action.”

IN THE HOUSE

- No new government legislation was introduced.
- Bill 59, updating rules around home inspections, door-to-door sales and payday loans, passed Third Reading unanimously.
- The Legislature will be dark next week, following the Easter long weekend. MPPs will be back in the House April 24, sitting for a month until their next Constituency Week break after the May long weekend.

FOR THE RECORD

“The mayor cannot simply brush aside billions of dollars of investments in transit, housing, roads, hospitals and schools, as ‘talking points.’”

- Finance Minister Charles Sousa, taking exception to Toronto Mayor John Tory’s letter to City councillors urging them to pressure MPPs for more infrastructure cash in the upcoming provincial budget.

“If we think the refugee problem is difficult now, try imagining a quarter of a billion people escaping the countries experiencing the worst of the climate changes. It will happen.”

- Ontario Environmental Commissioner Dianne Saxe, trying to raise public engagement on the urgency of climate change. Saxe commended the government for its environmental initiatives, but warned it needs to be more overt, fretting, “If the government doesn’t treat climate change as an emergency, then many people feel that they don’t need to, either.”

SUBJECT: Topics for Discussion at Regional Meetings during AGM/Conference

From time to time OCSTA's Regional Meetings serve as timely opportunities to consult with members on issues that are province-wide priorities for school boards or at the forefront of the government's agenda. Currently there are two issues meeting both requirements: school closures and school board governance.

In preparation for the upcoming Regional Meetings that will be held as part of OCSTA's 2017 AGM and Conference, CDSBs are asked to come prepared to discuss the following topics:

1. What are the impacts, issues and concerns arising from school closures in your region?
2. The Ministry of Education is planning to consult with its partners in education on the topic of school board governance. Please share insights, questions and concerns regarding support for the role of trustees, student trustees and school board governance in general.

Each regional meeting will provide an opportunity to discuss the perspectives of CDSBs on these two important and timely topics. It is recommended that the perspectives of each board be discussed/prepared prior to the regional meeting.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Chairpersons and Directors of Education

FROM: Pat Daly, President Ontario Catholic

SUBJECT: 2017-18 Grants for Student Needs Announcements

On April 12, 2017 the Ministry of Education issued Ministry Memorandum 2017:B04. This memorandum provides highlights of the 2017-18 Grants for Student Needs (GSN). The GSN for 2017-18 is estimated at $23.8 billion which is an increase of $879 million from the previous year.

As you are aware, OCSTA, along with the other Associations and the Crown, was involved in the negotiation of the recently ratified extension agreements. Certain of the extension agreements contained commitments made on behalf of the Crown alone, notably anticipated regulatory changes to the FDK program and the 4-8 class size. Recently, government consultations were held on these proposed regulatory changes and OCSTA articulated concerns, specifically with respect to the imposition of hard caps, particularly if appropriate funding does not accompany the proposed regulatory change. OCSTA will continue to advocate for adequate funding to accompany any regulatory changes implemented by the Crown.

In addition, based on the feedback that we received from boards during our regional meetings and consultations, we impressed upon the Crown the need for funds to flow to boards to assist in the implementation of the new extension agreements. The Human Resource Transition Supplement is the result of OCSTA's efforts to assist boards in this regard. OCSTA has also continued to advocate for a review of the transportation funding model. While the time lines are not as speedy as we would have hoped, we are pleased to see that the review will take place.

Highlights of the 2017-18 GSN are as follows:

Funding to reflect Ratified Extension agreements:

- increase in salary benchmarks for unionized teaching and non-teaching staff of 1.5 percent for 2017-18 school year, projected at $257.2 million

- funding for one-time payment for professional development which results in a benchmark increase of 0.5 percent, projected at $85.7 million * Note: Unions to conduct survey of their members on the use of these funds to ensure expenditure is consistent with professional development and other professional expenses.

Also related to the labour agreements the following investments:

Local Priorities Funding (LPF)

$218.9 Million in 2017-18, the intent of the Local Priorities Funding (LPF) is to inject net new special education staffing positions into the system supporting students in need, at risk and adult education, however, this will depend on local board circumstances, which may impact the actual number of net new FTE. "Actual staffing will vary depending on specific agreements, local discussions and compensation specific to each board, as well as job security provisions, staffing reductions related to declining enrolment and other exceptions."

The availability of the LPF does not negate a board's established budget plan or need to adjust staffing levels through attrition. Concerns with local decisions that trigger use of attrition may be raised by local unions at the central dispute resolution committee.

Employee Health & Dental Benefit Trusts

2017-18 Table amounts will be updated to reflect inflation protection increases, projected staffing, and board shares of the benefit costs derived from the 2014-15 benefit costs for school boards.

Community and Other Priorities:

Community Use of Schools

3% increase (equivalent to $0.8 million) within this grant for use consistent with the terms of the extension agreements, where applicable.

Human Resource Transition Supplement

A new fund within the Board Administration & Governance Grant ($10.0 million) to assist in managing agreements.

Class Size:

Junior & Senior Kindergarten

Commencing in 2017-18, implementation of a class size cap of 90% of classes less than or equal to 30 with no more than 10% of JK-SK classes up to 32, only if one of the following exceptions is met:

- If purpose-built accommodation is not available (sunset of this clause after five years)
- If a program will be negatively affected (i.e. French Immersion)
- Where compliance will increase FDK/Grade 1 combined classes

To fund JK/SK cap the average funded class will be lowered to 25.75 in 2017-18. (26.00 average funded in 2016-17), projected funding in 2017-18 is $16.7 million.

Commencing in 2017-18, Boards must hire an Early Childhood Educator (ECE) for all JK/ SK classes, where, in a school, in a single track at least one class has more than 30 students and one class has less than 16 students.

Grades 4-8

Commencing with 2017-18, Boards whose regulated Grade 4-8 average class size exceeds 24.5 will be required to reduce its 4 -8 maximum average class size to 24.5 within the next five years. To achieve this target the funded average class size will be reduced to 24.17 ($39.6 million) in 2017-18 to 22.85 at the final phase –in year. Boards who are at or below 24.5 average will not be required to lower their maximum average class sizes.

Capital funding:

In 2017–18, $1.0 billion will be allocated to school boards through the School Condition Improvement (SCI) program to address the significant backlog in school renewal needs. As part of the SCI funding, $200.0 million is allocated to Greenhouse Gas Reduction (GHG) projects to reduce emissions from facilities in the education sector. The GHG funding is available immediately to boards to facilitate projects over the summer. Projects may include replacement, renewal and installation of energy efficient building components.

School Renewal Allocation (SRA) of an additional $40.0 million for improvements to schools for flooring, walls, ceilings, playing fields etc. 40% of the funds are allocated towards operating/maintenance expenditures (i.e. painting) and the balance (60%) allocated towards capital nature expenditures (i.e. roof repairs, accessibility enhancements. Operating /maintenance funding may be directed towards capital expenditures, however not the converse.

Indigenous Education

In response to conversation with Indigenous representatives the naming of grants specific to supporting Indigenous education have been changed to reflect “Indigenous” peoples, formally referenced as (First Nation, Metis, Inuit, Native).

Commencing in 2017-18 - Enveloping of the Per-Pupil Allocation of the Indigenous Education Grant: In addition to the enveloping provision, boards must spend at least $84,083.77 on a dedicated Indigenous Education Lead. This Lead must be at least 1.0 FTE and work closely with a Board Supervisory Officer who is accountable for the implementation of the Ontario First Nation Metis and Education Policy Framework through the Board Action Plan. Indigenous Education funding in 2017-18 is projected to be approximately $25.3 million.

School Foundation Grant

Multi-Building Adjustment

Funding for an additional principal where an elementary or secondary school consists of multiple buildings on the same campus with large enrolment.

- Elementary Each building at least 150 ADE & average at least 300 ADE
- Secondary Each building at least 200 ADE & average at least 700 ADE

Starting in 2017-18 School Foundation Grant funding based on campus definition of a school. A Campus is defined as a property or properties owned, leased, or rented by a board that are linked by a contiguous property line. The impact of this change on GSN funding will be phased-in over four years.

Cost Pressure Funding:

$31.4 million to support boards with increases to electricity, transportation, and non-staff operations costs:

- the Student Transportation Grant will be increased by 2 percent.
- 2 percent cost benchmark update to the non-staff portion of the School Operations Allocation benchmark to assist boards in managing the increases in commodity prices (natural gas, facility insurance, electricity* and other costs). 2016-17 electricity benchmark was adjusted by 3.5%*

As a reminder, the following funding model reforms began in prior years and continue to be implemented:

- 2017–18 is the final year of a three-year phase-in of School Board Efficiencies and Modernization (SBEM) measures, introduced in 2015–16
- In 2014-15 the Ministry began the four-year implementation of a new funding model for what will now be called the Differentiated Special Education Needs Amount (DSENA) Allocation (formerly High Needs Amount), 2017-18 is the final year of phase-in.
- In 2014–15 the Ministry began phasing in a new allocation method for the School Board Administration and Governance Grant and 2017–18 is the final year of the four-year phase-in.

Rural Education: Government to conduct regional engagements to discuss approaches in supporting education in rural and remote communities. Discussion paper and on-line survey are being developed to focus and support the dialogue. Information on engagement process can be found at: ontario.ca/ruralschools.

Transportation: The Ministry to engage in a 12-18 month multi-stakeholder engagement to seek input and feedback on the vision for student transportation. This engagement is responsive to the Auditor General’s recommendation and the lobbying work of the Association regarding the student transportation funding formula.

2017-18 School Year Education Programs – Other (EPO) Funding
