In addition, some employees owe professional responsibilities to professional associations, self regulatory organizations or regulators.

Within this framework, employees are expected to exercise good judgment and be accountable for their actions.

Policy No 400.6

Adopted Date: May 24, 2011

In keeping with the Mission, Vision and Values of The the Niagara Catholic District School Board, the Board recognizes the sacredness and connectedness of all God's creation and the responsibility to promote a reverence for the environment and to encourage sustainability through the effective stewardship of all resources.

The Board believes that environmental education and the effective stewardship of God's gifts is a shared responsibility of students, staff and community members, and:

1. supports the message of Pope Francis issued in his May 24, 2015 encyclical letter Laudato Si (On Care For Our Common Home) teaching of the Church in Laudato Si, the encyclical letter of Pope Francis on the care for our common home, May 24, 2015:
“...Saint Francis of Assisi reminds us that our common home is like a sister with whom we share our life and a beautiful mother who opens her arms to embrace us. This sister now cries out to us because of the harm we have inflicted on her by our irresponsible use and abuse of the goods with which God has endowed her.”
2. supports the message of Pope Saint John Paul II on the occasion of the World Day of Peace, January 1, 1990:
“The ecological crisis is a moral crisis,” and “the responsibility of everyone.” “Care for the environment is not an option. In the Christian perspective, it forms an integral part of our personal life and of life in society. Not to care for the environment is to ignore the Creator’s plan for all creation and results in an alienation of the human person.”

The Board is committed to preparing students to meet the social and environmental challenges of the future, through the following goals:

Teaching and Learning

- ~~By the end of Grade 12,~~ All students will acquire knowledge, skills and perspectives that foster understanding of their fundamental connections to each other, to the world around them, and to all living things.

Student Engagement and Community Connections

- Increase student engagement by fostering active participation in environmental projects and building links between schools and communities.

Environmental Leadership

- Increase the capacity of system leaders to implement evidence-based environmental education programming, practices, and operations.

The Director of Education will issue Administrative Procedures in support of this policy.

REPORT TO THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE JUNE 12, 2018

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE PROGRAM AND SUPPORTS

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Niagara Catholic District School Board celebrates and supports the diversity of its school communities where all can reach their full potential and become living witnesses of Christ. Cultural and linguistic diversity help students and staff understand different perspectives, build important personal traits like empathy and compassion, and create a dynamic learning environment in our classrooms.

Administrator, educator, student, community, and family engagement have been the essential ingredients to support English Language Learner (ELL) students at two of our Catholic elementary schools in St. Catharines: St. Alfred Catholic Elementary and Canadian Martyrs Catholic Elementary. These two Catholic elementary schools support some of the highest numbers of newcomer students in our Board.

The following list of initiatives focus on the work of these two school communities that promote a welcoming, nurturing and student/family friendly learning environment for our newcomer students and their families:

- after school English as a Second Language (ESL) classes;
- ESL Summer Learning Program;
- Engaging Newcomer Families to Support their Children's 21st Century Learning; and
- Supporting ELLs in a Digital Classroom.

Randy Pruyn, Consultant K-12 Literacy/ESL will provide an overview of these initiatives and the support of community partners at the Committee of the Whole Meeting.

CAPITAL PLAN 2017-2020

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Niagara Catholic District School Board's Vision 2020 Strategic Plan has two Strategic Directions:

1. Build Strong Catholic Identity and Community to Nurture the Distinctiveness of Catholic Education
2. Advance Student Achievement for All

Seven Enabling Strategies to achieve the above Strategic Directions are also defined.

One of the key Enabling Strategies to achieve the two Strategic Directions is to "Address Changing Demographics".

One of the elements within this Enabling Strategy is the System Priority for 2017-2018 to design a multi-year Capital Plan. This Capital Plan is an important tool in planning and implementing capital projects in schools throughout our system over the next three school years. The plan must work in concert with capital funding provided by the Ministry of Education.

FUNDING SOURCES

Generally, there are two types of funding sources in Facilities Services:

1. Operating Funds
2. Capital Funds

Operating Funds are used for salaries, services and supplies for maintenance and custodial departments within Facilities Services.

Capital Funds are generally used to fund projects that are in excess of $10,000. This report focuses on projects funded via Capital Funding. Capital Funds may only be used for Capital Projects and may not be transferred to use as Operating Funds in annual budgets.

There are five kinds of Capital Funds referenced in this report:

1. School Condition Improvement 70% (SCI 70)

2. School Condition Improvement 30% (SCI 30)
 - School boards are to direct 70% of SCI funding to address major building components (ex. roofs, windows) and systems (ex. electrical, plumbing) and 30% of SCI funding can address the above noted building components or alternatively, building interiors and surrounding site components (ex. utilities, paving).
3. Facility Renewal (FR)
 - This capital funding can be used to revitalize and renew aged building systems and components such as the replacement of HVAC systems, roof replacement, program related needs, parking repairs.
4. Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund (GHG)
 - This capital funding can be used to install new boilers, HVAC systems, windows, doors.
5. Community Hubs Capital Funding (HUB)
 - This capital funding is to be used to retrofit available space in schools into community hub space, to improve the accessibility of schools and to support projects that would benefit both the board and the broader community.

Project types were identified in the Capital Plan as a way to group similar projects. The project types are:

1. Allowance
 - Funds identified to capture projects that arise during the course of the school year.
2. Maintenance Allocation Projects
 - Funds provided for projects under $10,000.
3. Structural
 - Projects related to addressing structural problems such as cracks in foundations, stair repairs.
4. Interiors
 - Projects related to upgrading interiors of schools such as staff room, special needs room, washroom renovations.
5. Roofs
 - Projects related to re-roofing original building and/or additions.
6. Site Works
 - Exterior projects related to re-paving, storm water management.
7. Heating/Cooling
 - Projects related to boiler replacement, building automation system upgrades, chiller replacement.
8. Window Replacement
 - Projects related to replacing windows in various sections of schools.
9. Doors
 - Replacement of exterior and/or interior doors.
10. Exteriors
 - Projects related to upgrading the building envelope (ex. masonry/siding), steps.
11. Services
 - Projects related to addressing concerns related to services such as water, sanitary/storm sewers.

A variety of factors were considered when developing this Capital Plan. Safety is always the highest priority. Requests from various staff members including Family of Schools Superintendents, administrators, consultants and school staff were reviewed in designing the Capital Plan. The knowledge and experience of Facilities Services staff are levied to address submissions.

Once Capital Plan projects are identified they then needed to be assigned to either Year 1, 2 or 3 of the Capital Plan and matched to an eligible funding source in each of the three years without exceeding the estimated funding amount in each year of that particular funding source.

Schools listed in our Long Term Accommodation Plan that recently received funding were not shown in the Capital Plan because they received funds for specific capital projects, namely:

- Monsignor Clancy/St. Charles Catholic Elementary Schools Consolidation and Child Care Addition
 - Capital Priorities/Child Care Funding Allocation of $5,040,382.
- Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Elementary School Child Care Addition
 - Funding Allocation of $1,557,887.

It is important to note that this Capital Plan 2017-2020 represents a “snapshot in time” at the point it was created. There are projects listed in this plan that may move from one year to another. It is likely that other higher priority projects not defined in this plan may be undertaken which may result in projects in this plan being, for example, deferred to future years. It is also possible that funding source estimates assumed in this plan may change or cease which will have an effect on the Capital Plan 2017-2020. This plan must be flexible to adapt over time as circumstances or priorities change.

A review of the three appendices will be part of the presentation of this report to the Committee of the Whole.

REPORT TO THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE MEETING JUNE 12, 2018

ORIGINAL ESTIMATES FOR THE 2018-2019 ANNUAL BUDGET

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

On an annual basis, the Niagara Catholic District School Board of Trustees and staff work in collaboration to provide a balanced budget that provides the funding required to achieve the Board's Vision 2020 Strategic Plan, the Board approved System Priorities 2018-2019, programs, supports, services, staffing and resources to meet the Mission, Vision and Values of the Niagara Catholic District School Board.

Annually, the Niagara Catholic District School Board welcomes more than 21,000 students a year into our day school, alternative, international and continuing education programs. As our Board is aware, the demographics in the Region of Niagara continues to illustrate a decline in percentage growth in the 0 – 19 years of age. As a result, Niagara Catholic's enrolment numbers have continued to trend downward for many years. The 2018-2019 school year will be no exception to this historic trend and estimated average daily enrolment is projected to be approximately 20,855. This is an expected decline in enrolment of approximately 254 students for the 2018-2019 school year.

Niagara Catholic continues to work towards a stable financial position as a result of many years of declining enrolment and challenges in balancing a sustainable annual budget. As elementary and secondary schools continue to decline in enrolment, the ability to achieve economies of scale by staffing to ministry aggregate targets continues to present challenges in our board. In particular, the smaller classes in the early learning kindergarten division has exceeded ministry staffing and class size requirements and resulted in more classrooms. The continued decrease in school aged pupils and inflationary pressures will continue to present challenges to our board for years to come.

As our Board continues to work through a multi-year recovery plan with the Ministry of Education, we recognize that our ability to meet specific financial targets and dates are critical in achieving financial stability.

Senior Administration continues to redesign and scale programs and services that will optimize all areas of the Grants for Student Needs (GSN) and one-time grants for 2018-2019. This exercise has achieved a cost structure that is aligned with the 2018-2019 estimates and our current extended multi-year recovery plan.

Following an extensive consultation process, Senior Administrative Council has completed the initial Estimates for the 2018-2019 Budget. The current estimates provide the funding required to achieve the Board approved System Priorities 2018-2019. A review of the original estimates used to design the balanced budget for 2018-2019 will be reviewed again in November 2018 with the revised estimates for 2018-2019.

The Trustees and Senior Staff have continued to be committed to providing financial stewardship to Niagara Catholic and have used these resources responsibly and effectively.

The proposed 2018-2019 Original Estimates has resulted in an anticipated operating budget of $270 million dollars. Niagara Catholic District School Board is projecting a 2018-2019 balanced budget and continues to strive towards the multi-year recovery plan targets and dates set out by the Ministry of Education.

The Director of Education, the Superintendent of Business and Financial Services and members of Senior Administrative Council are pleased to present a balanced Annual Budget for the 2018-2019 school year, which is:

- A positive budget for students.
- A Catholic focused budget which provides the financial support for our programs, services, supports and the high expectations for our system to continue to move forward for students.
- A budget that meets the current Ministry of Education priorities.
- A budget that is in full compliance with Ministry of Education funding allocations as required by regulations and by funding to school boards as allocated by the Ministry.
- A budget that includes increased expenditures to the average number of personal absences due to illness, benefits for all staff job classes as determined by agreements, increased costs to student transportation, minimum wage and services.
- A budget that is in full compliance with Public Sector Accounting Standards and, for 2018-2019 after a multi-year recovery implementation plan, we are proud to present to the Board a budget that has all sections in compliance with Ministry financial requirements.

As part of this report, a visual Executive Summary presentation of the balanced Annual Budget 2018-2019 will be presented at the Committee of the Whole.

We take this opportunity to thank all members of Board staff who have been involved in the preparation of the balanced Annual Budget 2018-2019.

SPOTLIGHT ON NIAGARA CATHOLIC – MAY 22, 2018

May 22, 2018

Policies Approved

During the May 22 Board Meeting, trustees approved revisions to the Christian Community Service Policy (400.3). Read the revised policy here.

Celebrating School Excellence – Blessed Trinity Catholic Secondary School

Every month during the Board meeting, we shine the spotlight on one school or program in our system. This month, the meeting focused on Blessed Trinity Catholic Secondary School in Grimsby.

Principal Joe Zaroda showcased the many things that make Blessed Trinity such an active and vibrant part of the entire West Niagara community. He spoke about the school's academic excellence and its ongoing commitment to student success, and shared many of the events and activities available to students throughout the year.

Creating a positive school culture is one of the keys to Blessed Trinity's success in West Niagara; including receiving a Premier's Award for Safe and Accepting Schools. Students participate in many community partnerships including the Rankin Rally, Youth Philanthropy Initiative, Niagara Nutrition Partners Breakfast and the Mayor's Youth Advisory Group, and are empowered to organize events to support these community causes.

In addition, there are many co-curriculars at the school for students to enjoy, including sports teams, music programs and a myriad of clubs, and students from Blessed Trinity Catholic – and its family of schools – are active participants in the Annual Pilgrimage.

System Priorities 2018-2019

The Board of Trustees has approved Niagara Catholic's System Priorities for 2018-2019. Enhanced communication between home, school and parish, increasing student and parent voice in student achievement and the creation of a system-wide electronic platform to facilitate communication between staff and parents are among the key System Priorities for 2018-2019.

Pre-Budget Preview

During the May 22 Board Meeting, Trustees received an information report on the 2018-2019 Annual Budget. The budget, set at an estimated $269 million, was presented as a balanced budget to achieve the Board's two Strategic Directions, to Build Strong Catholic Identity and Community to Nurture the Distinctiveness of Catholic Education and to Advance Student Achievement for All, and the Board-approved System Priorities for 2018-2019.

ELECTION 2018

WHAT HAPPENED

WHAT'S NEXT

Enterprise is partnering with Pollara Strategic Insights and Maclean's for exclusive post-election polling and analysis. A few days after the election we'll share the results.

WEEKLY ROUNDUP

EARLY ADOPTERS – Let the voting begin. Advance polls open tomorrow for a five-day window, giving Ontarians a chance to cast their ballots before Election Day on June 7. In recent years, advance polls have become a key focus for political parties, as they try to get as many votes as possible in the can – votes they then don't have to worry about pulling on E-Day. Look for a major on-the-ground offensive between now and May 30, as each party's identified supporters get the call urging them to take advantage of the early-bird special.

SLATE SHOW – To facilitate the advance polls, ballots have been printed and delivered by Elections Ontario, which logged a total of 825 registered candidates across the province. That’s a big jump from the 615 candidates in 2014, mostly reflecting the increase in ridings from 107 to 124. But redistribution doesn’t explain why there are more parties – 28 to be exact, up from 21 four years ago. This includes the Canadians’ Choice Party, Consensus Ontario, Go Vegan, Ontario Moderate Party, Ontario Provincial Confederation of Regions Party, Party of Objective Truth, Peoples Political Party, New People’s Choice Party of Ontario, Stop Climate Change and Stop the Sex-Ed Agenda. Also on the list is the regional Northern Ontario Party (which, oddly, couldn’t field a candidate in Kenora-Rainy River) and of course the Pauper Party of Ontario led by perennial candidate John Turmel, now running in his 94th election (this time in Brantford-Brant, where he has run – and lost – before).

FIREWORKS – Most mid-campaign polls indicate that this is a two-horse race, with the NDP pulling into a virtual tie with the Tories for first place and the Liberals sliding further back into third. (The latest from Pollara Strategic Insights, conducting public opinion research in partnership with us at Enterprise and Maclean’s, has the NDP in front with 38% support, the Tories right behind at 37% and the Liberals dropping to a dismal 18%.) One variable, however, is that the undecided vote appears to still be quite profound. Whether this is a reflection of uncertainty about the choices or apathy in general is not clear, but if there are going to be major shifts in voter sentiments they should soon start becoming evident now that Victoria Day is behind us. Conventional wisdom is that a long weekend during a campaign is when an election suddenly shows up in many voters’ consciousness, as an inevitable topic of conversation among gatherings of family and friends.

FOR THE SAKE OF ARGUMENT – One major event that could impact voters’ thinking is coming up on Sunday evening. That’s when the three main party leaders will convene for a televised debate (sans Green Party Leader Mike Schreiner – who will have his nose figuratively pressed against the glass, he and his supporters miffed that the Greens are not invited.) Huge pressure will be on all three: Liberal Leader Kathleen Wynne, desperately needing a strong showing to woo back voters who have pretty much written the Liberals off; PC Leader Doug Ford, whose direct, forthright style is tailor-made for this kind of event, but who risks alienating swing voters if he’s seen as too brusque or sloganeering; and NDP Leader Andrea Horwath, keen to build on the momentum she’s gained in this campaign, mindful that voters who hadn’t considered the NDP before are now paying closer attention.

FOR THE RECORD

“It’s like Ford Nation has its own laws of economics. I call them ‘Doug-onomics.’ They’re one part magic, one part wishful thinking, and a huge dose of pull-the-wool-over-their-eyes. And it all boils down to this: You can have your cake and eat it too. And if you believe that, I’ve got a gas plant you might want to buy.”

OPSEU President Warren “Smokey” Thomas, using a Sun Media guest column to slag the PC Leader. The 155,000-member public service union has produced its own election platform, called Vote Better, which vehemently opposes privatization and largely skews toward the NDP.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

- Another new Liberal video ad launched this week, this one featuring a sort-of mea culpa from Wynne, whose personal unpopularity has been pegged as dragging down overall Liberal fortunes. The video opens with an abrupt close-up of Wynne saying “I can do better,” then segues into clips of Wynne meeting with kids, seniors, etc. under a voice-over of her affirming, “How can I make life better for you, that’s what I think about when I get up to run at five in the morning.” (The running reference recycles a theme from the 2014 election.) The video concludes with Wynne declaring, “Better never stops. Neither will I.”
- Hoping to curtail some of the NDP’s momentum – which largely siphons progressive voters away from the Liberals – the LIBs seized on comments from Horwath opposing government legislation to end public sector strikes. “While no one wants or likes to order parties back to work, the public interest sometimes demands the government’s leadership when all else fails,” chided a statement from Liberal HQ. The Liberals also made hay out of an NDP pledge to support apprenticeship training but with no funding for it. “More Signs of Incompetence Show NDP Are Not Ready to Govern,” screamed the Liberal headline.
- The LIBs still see Ford as their primary opponent, and made a big deal of releasing an audio recording of the PC Leader purportedly engaged in shady dealings on behalf of Kinga Surma, the candidate in the Etobicoke riding where Ford lives. Stirring ongoing controversy about PC nominations, the Liberals say the evidence shows Ford paid for new members (against party rules) and intimidated Surma’s rival. Ford dismissed the allegations as desperate Liberals “trying to change the channel.”

“I’m not under any illusion that this is not a challenging election for us. I absolutely get that ... It’s a really, really important election for this province because it is an election about what our province is going to look like going forward.”

Wynne, acknowledging polls showing her Liberals destined for third-party status but not giving up hope that voters will come back to them.

- With polls showing the NDP gaining ground on the Tories, Ford took dead aim at them, repeatedly using the words “radical” and “extreme” to describe NDP candidates and policies. In a tarring-with-one-brush broadside he offered, “What is worse than the Liberals – and they’re bad – who’d be 10 times worse, would be the NDP.”
- Ford dusted off a legendary campaign promise – first raised by the Liberals in the 1980s and surfacing periodically since then – by vowing to allow beer, wine, cider and coolers to be sold in corner stores and big-box stores. “It is time to acknowledge that Ontario is mature enough for this change and ready to join other jurisdictions in making life a little more convenient,” Ford explained, reinforcing the point with one of his major campaign themes, “I believe in doing what’s convenient for the people, and not what’s convenient for the government.”

- On top of the nomination kerfuffle around Etobicoke Centre, Ford was on the defensive about a police investigation into accusations of stolen personal data from Highway 407 ETR customers being used for political purposes, which led to the resignation of one PC candidate and has rumoured links to a dozen others. However, the PC Leader wasn’t about to wear the controversy, throwing it at the feet of his predecessor. “Seventy-one days ago I was elected to come in and clean up the mess that I’ve cleaned up. This goes back to Patrick Brown. Patrick Brown was the leader of this whole group of people,” Ford said. (Brown, for his part, did not take kindly to this depiction. In a Toronto Star op-ed column he wrote, “We were well on our way to recreating the Big Blue Machine of the great Bill Davis that would have governed as a fiscally conservative, moderate, inclusive, pragmatic and progressive party. That’s no mess.”)

“God forbid they ever got in ... Ontario workers and their families will be stuck paying for the radical NDP agenda and we all end up paying for the NDP and their radical plans.”

Ford, with one of many unvarnished shots at the surging NDP.

- Well aware of polls showing an NDP victory – maybe even a majority government – to be a distinct possibility, Horwath admitted she has started thinking about managing the transition. However, she cautioned, “I’m not far along at all because you never really count your chickens before they hatch.”
- Horwath acknowledged the accounting mistake in her platform that had the Liberals pointing accusatory fingers. Having already committed to budget deficits, Horwath revised her costing estimates to be $1.4 billion higher, shrugging off the Liberal indignation. “We’ve fixed the problem that was identified,” she declared. “I’m confident that everything in our platform is achievable. Should people give us the honour of governing in Ontario, we will make life better for everyone.”
- Horwath got a boost from her former caucus mate and now federal NDP Leader Jagmeet Singh, who joined her for a campaign event at Brampton’s Bombay Palace. “This is the kind of rally I dream about having in Brampton,” Singh gushed. “This is what we’ve been building for the past seven years.”

“There’s a whole bunch of voters out there that don’t even know who Bob Rae is. And I’m not Bob Rae. And this is not 1990; this is 2018.”

Horwath, rejecting any connection to Ontario's only previous NDP government.

ELECTION 2018

WHAT HAPPENED

WHAT'S NEXT

Enterprise is partnering with Pollara Strategic Insights and Maclean's for exclusive post-election polling and analysis. A few days after the election we'll share the results.

WEEKLY ROUNDUP

LAST GASP – After all the campaign events, all the mudslinging, all the social media hyperbole, all the partisan spin, a week from now Ontarians will have ... results. More than likely – barring an astonishing shift in voter sentiment in the final days – the outcome will be a change in government. Public opinion research continues to point to the Liberals being ousted after nearly 15 years in power – although if recent history has taught us anything it's that polling is hardly infallible (President Trump, anyone?) If the LIBs do go down, there is still much suspense over whether either the PCs or NDP can win a majority government, and how vote splits will play out in various ridings. Voter turnout could also be a factor, with many pundits predicting record low participation as many voters don't like any of their options – disdain that has only been exacerbated by the bitter jeering that has characterized this campaign.

IT'S DEBATABLE – In keeping with the cacophonous nature of the campaign, Sunday's televised leaders' debate set off an avalanche of commentary. Objectivity, however, was in short supply, as for the most part the debate seemed to reinforce existing opinions – making it hard to tell whether it actually influenced any votes. Aside from the partisan cheerleading, most analysis concluded that Premier Kathleen Wynne had comported herself well, perhaps even “winning” the debate if there is such a thing, but that it was probably too late to make much difference. PC Leader Doug Ford and NDP Leader Andrea Horwath both did what they needed to do – i.e., reinforce messages to their core supporters, without making any serious blunders. There was no singular dramatic moment – the oft-referenced but rarely delivered “knockout punch” – and the campaign pretty much continued as before as soon as the debate was finished.

PAST TENSE – While the focus was on the leaders during the debate and they are still obviously the stars of the campaign, this election more than any other in memory has put the spotlight on individual candidates – and not in a good way. Allegations of shady behaviour in nominations continue to dog Ford, as do some past activities (notably the admittedly “reckless” musings of former radio host Andrew Lawton, who was appointed by Ford as the PC candidate in London West). But with the NDP surging, the Tories turned the tables, zeroing in on the “radical” (Ford's word) views of a handful of New Democrat candidates. This has included one with a Nazi meme and anti-Canadian forces rantings on her Facebook page, another who is against mining, one opposed to Remembrance Day poppies, a 9/11 conspiracy “truther,” and a candidate who once posted virulent anti-“gun nut” messages. Horwath promised to investigate, and she distanced herself from the comments – but not the right to express them. “Those are certainly not values I share, but freedom of speech is a principle that we all, I think, value,” she said.

OLDTIMERS GAME – If Liberal fortunes don't improve, it looks like some big names could be election casualties. Several veteran Grit MPPs are reportedly in danger of losing their seats, including Wynne herself in Don Valley West. Others said to be on the bubble include long-time MPP Bob Chiarelli in Ottawa-West Nepean, Yasir Naqvi (a presumptive leadership candidate whenever Wynne steps down) in Ottawa Centre, Steven Del Duca (ditto) in Vaughan-Woodbridge and, most surprising of all, 41-year veteran Jim Bradley in St. Catharines. Bradley has won 11 elections since 1977 and is on the verge of setting a record as Ontario's longest-serving MPP ever. He's less than a year short of Harry Nixon's longevity mark but can't surpass it unless he wins next week.

UPTOWN BROWN – Not long after this election ends another will appear on the horizon, as Ontarians will once again be going to the polls on October 22 to choose their municipal representatives. At least a few unsuccessful provincial candidates will no doubt take another shot in the fall, and rumour has it that one very familiar name will be on the ballot: none other than former PC Leader Patrick Brown. Hard to believe it's only been a little over four months since Brown resigned in disgrace (forever leaving us to wonder how the current campaign would have unfolded if he was still at the PC helm), but he has been actively trying to rehabilitate his image since then – suing CTV News for the sexual misconduct story that brought him down and writing a tell-all book to be released in November. According to some reports, he could be launching that book as Chair of Peel Region – a position he is contemplating seeking in the fall. (Up until now, the Chair has been chosen by Regional Councillors; as of 2018 voters will make that decision directly.) Earlier speculation had Brown interested in running for Mayor of Barrie – he was a Barrie Councillor before being elected as a federal MP – but word is polling showed he'd have trouble defeating incumbent Mayor Jeff Lehman. The Peel Region idea has some credence, in that a big chunk of Brown's support base was in the South Asian community, which is largely concentrated in Brampton and Mississauga.

ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

- Building on a line Wynne used in the televised debate (see below), the Liberals launched an advertising blitz around the “sorry not sorry” theme.
- Wynne released a full election platform, with promises beyond the Budget measures that had been the foundation of her campaign so far. Covering no fewer than 45 categories, the “anchor” of the platform is a commitment to legislation that when actual spending is lower than projections, 100% of the difference will go to pay down debt. Other new pledges include eliminating geographic discrimination in auto insurance premiums, reducing transit fares for trips between municipalities and creating an independent gasoline watchdog.

“Here’s what I want to say about the last five years: sorry not sorry. I’m really, genuinely sorry that more people don’t like me. But I am not sorry about all of the things that we’re doing in Ontario to make life better.”

Wynne, defending her record – while acknowledging her personal unpopularity.

- Ford released a sort-of platform, called the “Plan for the People” – basically it’s a list of promises he’s made during the campaign and costs associated with them, posted on the PC website. It does not include a full costing – an omission vociferously seized on by his opponents, nor does it mention the $6-billion in administrative efficiencies he has vowed to find. Campaign spokesperson Melissa Lantsman insisted that every promise is costed, and argued that financial projections are folly anyway, because “We do not yet know the state of Ontario’s finances and anyone who tells you they do is lying to you.”
- Confronted by a drop in the polls, Ford went with the oldest line in the book: “You know something, I never pay attention to polls. I’ve said that from Day 1 – the only poll that counts is on Election Day.”

- Building on last week’s pledge to allow beer and wine to be sold in corner stores, Ford announced a “buck-a-beer” policy, vowing to lower the minimum price. “For too long beer consumers have been forced to pay inflated prices for beer in order to increase the profits of big corporations,” he said in a statement. “We’re going to allow price competition for beer and this will save consumers money.”

“I’m always anti-politician. I’ve never changed. I’m the same person. It’s all about respecting the taxpayers, always taking care of the little guy. That’s who I am. Nobody’s going to change me.”

Ford, insisting that criticism levelled at him won’t affect his approach.

- Far from fearing the increased scrutiny that comes with frontrunner status, Horwath appears to be embracing it – at least she did in a lengthy Globe and Mail feature.

In one segment she admitted politics is all-consuming, but that’s okay with her. “It really is your whole life. I still love it, which means I have a serious personality disorder,” she laughed, showing a sense of humour that has been largely missing in recent years.

- On a more serious note in the same article, Horwath’s Chief of Staff Michael Balagus noted a very different tone on this campaign. “In the history of the Ontario NDP, winning has rarely been on the top of the agenda. The one time they won government [under Bob Rae in 1990], many people were traumatized by that in the party,” Balagus observed. “That’s the difference this time. [Horwath] owns this campaign.”
- Horwath’s sense of humour was on display again when her campaign hit the inevitable glitch, in this case an overheated bus between Sarnia and London. “I’m going to take a look under the hood,” she reportedly said tongue-in-cheek, then tweeted, “Time for #FanBeltChange4Better.”

“I don’t think that people want to watch mud be slung by the parties. The Conservative party and the Liberal party should think about the fact that when you throw mud, you lose ground.”

Horwath, claiming the high road.

ELECTION 2018

WHAT HAPPENED

WHAT'S NEXT

READ ALL ABOUT IT
TUESDAY, JUNE 12

Enterprise is partnering with Pollara Strategic Insights and Maclean's for exclusive post-election research. On Tuesday, we'll share our findings about why Election '18 went the way it did, what voters were thinking and what it all means for Ontario's new government.

WEEKLY ROUNDUP

WILD, BLUE YONDER – Premier Doug Ford. Nobody had that in their 2018 predictions! Ford will indeed be Ontario's 26th Premier, with yesterday's election culminating what had to be the craziest five months in the province's history. When the new year rang in, Ford was preparing a second bid to be Toronto's mayor, Patrick Brown was leading an apparently stable PC party touting his People's Guarantee platform, Andrea Horwath's New Democrats were mired in their usual third place in most public opinion polls, and Premier Kathleen Wynne, while personally unpopular, was seen as a formidable force for Liberal re-election. This morning, Ford presides over a healthy majority PC government – winning 76 seats – while Horwath's NDP are the Official Opposition with an impressive 40 MPPs. And Wynne's Liberals – well, they're staring at oblivion, decimated to just seven MPPs and losing official party status.

Wynne is in that septet, barely winning her Don Valley West riding by 181 votes (all things considered, she would have probably preferred to lose her seat), but she has resigned as party leader.

GONE WITH THE WYNNE – Perhaps history will be kind to Wynne, but her final few days in power were truly wretched. She took the unprecedented step of conceding defeat with almost a week to go in the election, leaving many a Liberal campaigner – still hoping for some last-minute momentum – scratching their heads about how to convince voters to support them. “This is a hard thing to do,” Wynne, barely keeping her composure, told shocked reporters last weekend. “On June 7, voters will choose a new government. I don’t know who voters will choose but I am pretty sure that it won’t be me. After Thursday, I will no longer be Ontario’s Premier.” Blinking back tears, she added, “I’m okay with that, because, as I’ve said many times before, it’s not about me. It’s about the people of this province. It’s about their well-being. And their futures. It’s about their jobs. Not my job.” Strategically, Wynne was trying to save some seats, encouraging voters to elect Liberals to stop the other parties from gaining a majority. Obviously, it didn’t work.

THE EX FILES – Some 45 Liberal incumbents are now former MPPs. Only Wynne, Michael Gravelle, Mitzie Hunter, Michael Coteau (who becomes the early favourite to succeed Wynne as leader) and an Ottawa-area trio of Nathalie Des Rosiers, Marie-France Lalonde and John Fraser managed to hang on to their seats, while the rest of the caucus – including 20 cabinet ministers – went down. The party also lost long-time stalwarts and former cabinet ministers Ted McMeekin and Jim Bradley, the latter of whom will fall short in his bid to become Ontario’s longest-serving MPP. Not one new Liberal was elected. No incumbent Tories or New Democrats were defeated, although exiled PC MPP Jack MacLaren – who sat as an independent and ran under the Trillium Party banner – failed in his bid to keep Kanata-Carleton. MacLaren finished a dismal fourth, nearly 22,000 votes behind PC winner Marrilee Fullerton.

SCHREINER’S PARADE – While the Liberals were devastated to win only seven ridings, a single seat was cause for great celebration for the Green Party of Ontario. Leader Mike Schreiner became Ontario’s first-ever Green MPP, taking Guelph in impressive fashion securing more than 45% of the vote. That seat in the Legislature, although it doesn’t come with official party status or much money, is a beachhead for the Greens, giving them much higher profile and earmarking a place for Schreiner in the televised leaders’ debates in the 2022 election campaign.

BAD BLOOD – Having fought back criticism around the PC nomination process and not releasing a full platform, Ford had to withstand one last charge this week – from his own family. His sister-in-law Renata Ford, widow of late Toronto Mayor – and Doug’s unabashed inspiration – Rob Ford, filed a $16-million lawsuit claiming that Doug and his brother Randy had mismanaged both Rob’s estate and the family label printing business. Doug dismissed the allegations outright, vowing to fight them in court and all-but calling the whole thing an extortion bid. “Renata’s lawyers have been clear to us throughout this campaign that either we hand over money, or they would go public with these false claims,” he fumed.

REBUILDING A MYSTERY – Even before the votes had been tallied the jockeying had begun to replace Wynne at the Liberal helm. Oddly, first out of the gate was David Henderson, the Liberal candidate in Leeds-Grenville-Thousand Islands and Rideau Lakes. On Monday, Henderson announced that if he was elected as MPP – which he most certainly was not, getting crushed by incumbent PC Steve Clark – he would run for the leadership. Meanwhile, a “Liberals Rebuilding the Ontario Liberal Party” Facebook group appeared this week, describing itself as an online forum and gathering about 150 members so far. It is no doubt the first of many such campaigns, as the Liberals basically start from scratch and both new and old faces look to shape that process. It sure won’t be easy. Without official party status the Liberals lose their research budget, and changes they themselves made to fundraising rules will make it much harder to replenish their war chest.

FOR THE RECORD

“I know my brother Rob is looking down from heaven. I’m just getting chills talking about him right now. I know Rob is celebrating with us tonight. We owe so much to Rob’s legacy.”

Premier-designate Doug Ford, paying homage to his late brother and former Toronto mayor in his victory speech Thursday night.

“A year ago I talked with my caucus and we really believed that the plan we had was in the best interest of Ontario and we had a path to form a government. Yes, I am competitive, but I am also practical. If there had been indicators that we could not find a path to governing, I would have considered stepping down.”

Defeated Liberal Leader Kathleen Wynne, even before yesterday’s drubbing, admitting in a London Free Press interview that she should have listened to those calling for her to let someone else lead the party into the election.

“I am sure this is a relief to many. Many of us would hear it at the door. I certainly have heard it. It is not uncommon to hear from a voter who would say ‘I would love to vote for you, but I cannot vote for Kathleen Wynne.’ Already this morning [five days before the election], a person at the door said they could vote for me now that Premier Wynne is not going to be premier.”

Long-time Liberal MPP Jim Bradley, approving of Wynne’s strategy to concede defeat with nearly a week to go in the campaign. Bradley ended up losing his seat anyway.

“I like Doug. The NDP and Liberals are trying to buy our votes with a long list of promises – promises they can’t keep – and they come with hefty price tags. Kathleen Wynne and Andrea Horwath don’t seem to give a damn.”

Former Toronto Mayor Mel Lastman, endorsing Ford – the second high-profile former mayor to do so, along with Mississauga’s Hazel McCallion. Hard to say if these endorsements helped Ford win, but they clearly didn’t hurt.
